

Write Your 5-Year Watchman's Vision

One paragraph each: marriage, fathering, body, money, spirit.

A watchman who can't say where the city is headed won't notice when it drifts. Use AI to draft a five-year vision across the five domains of your life, then cut it down to what you'll actually decide — not what you wish. AI drafts; you sign; you re-read it every Monday for five years.

THE ACTION

- Ask Claude to draft one paragraph for each domain:
 - Marriage — what does it look like five years from now?
 - Fathering — what would your kids say about you?
 - Body — what physical state are you stewarding toward?
 - Money — what's your financial position and what's it for?
 - Spirit — where is your walk with God?
- Read each paragraph aloud. Cut every line that's a wish but not a decision.
- Rewrite the survivors in your own words until it sounds like you, not the machine.
- Print it. Read it the first Monday of every month.

WHY THIS MATTERS

A man without a written vision is steered by the most recent email and the loudest crisis. Write it down so the urgent can't keep beating the important.

SCRIPTURE

Proverbs 29:18 — "Where there is no vision, the people perish." The people in your house included — and so does the watchman himself.
